

Jason Frierott, Chief Financial Officer, GE Transportation

Jason Frierott is the Chief Financial Officer for GE Transportation. In this role, he is responsible for the financial well-being of the organization.

He previously served as CFO for PGS Service Operations and the Global FP&A Leader for Power & Water where he helped to establish that operation as a stand-alone business. Additionally, he held CFO positions for Power Services and Power Generation Services. He began his career with GE in 1998 as part of GE Capital's Financial Management Program, and then transitioned to the Corporate Audit Staff. During his time within that role, he led a company-wide review of industrial revenue recognition.

Jason graduated from the University of Arizona with a bachelor's degree in Business Administration.